Volume XXXVIII of the Crimson J

Prologue

In this, our yearbook, the class of 1948 presents The Newton Bateman Memorial High School as a fitting example of Shakespeare's famous words:

"All the world's a stage, and all the men and women merely players."

To us, our school is the typical stage and you the actor. Maybe you never realized that you are an actor or that you play many different parts in your time.

We have as our producers the Boards of Education and Control, who make it possible to maintain our stage and to present our many productions.

Our directors are our understanding and helpful teachers, who work constantly, always striving to bring out the best in their actors.

Each student is listed in the Dramatis Personae. The Midyear Freshmen are the newest addition to our cast. They show promise of capability to hold their own on our stage.

On the next step up the theatrical ladder are the Freshmen, serving their apprenticeship.

The Sophomores have had two years' stage experience now and consider themselves "oldhands."

The Juniors act as understudies to the Seniors, carefully watching them to learn the tricks of the trade in order to take over their roles next year.

The Seniors are so outstanding that they get to bask in our spotlight of praise for their performances. One page is set aside for sneak snapshots of Senior activities.

Bouquets for our leading lady, Miss Leonhard. She really shone in her starring role as our adviser.

We have many guilds—our clubs and organizations for bettering our acting and some for our relaxation.

Our productions cover such events as operas, vesper services, May festivals, band concerts, and plays. To make you better acquainted with the others, we present snaps of behind-the-scenes and of the helpers who do so much to make us successful.

As one line of recreation we have our athletics—football, basketball, track, and baseball.

You can find some farce and comedy in the humor section—the lighter side of our lives, telling of our ambitions, our follies, and our relaxing moments.

We then have our patrons, the people who advertise in our book to help support our production—the "J." We offer thanks to each of them.

Last but not least, on our program are the autograph pages, where we sign our best wishes for our fellow actors' future success in life.

To Our Leading Lady

Miss Emma Mae Leonhard

We, the class of 1948, want to express in our dedication our deepest and sincerest appreciation of her careful guidance and watchfulness of our class activities, her never-ceasing, smiling radiance, and steadying patience.

Miss Evans, serving as dean of girls, has been helpful in smoothing out problems and giving advice to any girl in school when it was needed. Besides these duties, she carried on the testing program of J. H. S. and taught the advanced math classes.

Mr. May, dean of boys, besides keeping track of all their absentees and tardies, had as his added duties those of assistant principal and teacher of several drafting classes each day.

To these, our deans, goes our heartiest applause.

The purpose of the Student Council was to develop student responsibility, initiative, leadership, and school pride; to promote the welfare of the school through proper student-faculty relationship; to provide for student expression; and to promote worthy citizenship training.

Among the activities sponsored by this organization were the regular school dances, programs, the Christmas dance, annual school picnic, and student day. They also helped the March of Dimes, Red Cross, and other service organizations.

The Council was composed of one representative from each home room. These representatives were elected by the members of the respective home rooms.

Student Council held its meetings during the lunch hour on Friday. The meetings were composed of plans for activities sponsored by the Council and the proposal and discussion of questions brought up by the students.

The bi-weekly newspaper of Jacksonville High School, known as the Herald, is published by this club. Each member was a full-fledged reporter and had special assignments. Shirleyan Fry and Ray Durley have proven to be very conscientious and capable editors by publishing an interesting and educational paper.

Any student interested in journalism was eligible to be a member of the Herald Staff. During the club period they had speakers and discussions to acquaint the members with the fundamentals of journalism.

The Herald Staff enjoyed several picnics during the year.

The Forum was organized for those students interested in debate, public speaking, and current affairs. Each member participated in a program sometime during the year, thereby gaining experience in speaking his views before a group. Debates, general discussions, and extempore speaking are examples of the type of work carried on by this club. Special panel discussion groups were also organized for educational purposes.

The annual Forum picnic was an occasion at which all members satisfied their joyful anticipation.

All the students of J. H. S. owe the Forum a debt of gratitude for their memorable Sadie Hawkins Day celebration and dance. This gala day of wearing old clothes, and reverting to the fantastic customs and manners of the Yokum family added a pleasant variety to the usual school day.

They also presented on the radio a discussion on the subject, "Making Democracy Live."

Students who were anxious to improve their speech by speaking found excellent opportunities to do this work in the Speech Club. Each member was required to present a selection before the club at least once during the year. These selections were presented individually or in a group.

In addition to participating in their own club programs, members presented a radio program and a play for assembly.

This club offered excellent opportunities for training for speech contests, although membership was not a requirement for contestants in the speech tournament.

The Foreign Correspondence Club was a new club, so its policies were not fully determined. It was organized on request of the students to increase interest in and understanding of all people.

Writing to students in foreign countries was the main project of the club. The pen pals of the members represented students of a great variety of nationalities and races.

During the club programs members exchanged foreign addresses, gave reports about the countries to which they wrote, and enjoyed music composed by foreign musicians.

The letters received from foreign students have proven to be very interesting and educational. They seemed to have no conception of the size of the U. S. and were eager to learn all about our customs, occupations, and way of life in general. They were interested in learning about our families and were anxious to exchange pictures and cards. For the most part the foreign pen pals seemed to know more about world affairs than the average American boy or girl. Although occasional errors in English produced comical situations, the letters on the whole contained very good English.

The purpose of the Dramatic Club was to train students in the various phases of theatrical production. Although the Dramatic Club was chiefly for freshmen and sophomores, they have allowed a few upper classmen to continue. One of the main projects of the club was to produce and present plays. Participation in these plays gave students excellent experience and helped prepare them for future school productions. Besides the plays the members presented skits, pantomimes, and other dramatic features. Educational demonstrations on such subjects as the art of applying make-up were also a part of their programs.

The plays produced by the Dramatic Club were presented at class meetings and other school programs as well as at their own club meetings.

In order to be a member of the Future Homemakers of America you had to be interested in homemaking and have one semester of home economics in either Junior or Senior High School. Members also had to meet special requirements established by the chapter.

F. H. A. prepared the girls to be better homemakers and to appreciate the joys and satisfactions of homemaking.

The social activities held by the club this year were a treasure hunt and wiener roast, chili supper, trip to St. Louis to see Sonja Henie, mother's social, theater party, and a taffy pull.

The sale of football and basketball pencils was an activity sponsored by the F. H. A., with which all J. H. S. students are familiar. One of the special projects of this club was a bazaar at Christmas.

Community and world services in which this club participated were the World Christmas Festival, Christmas baskets, and an Easter party.

The purpose of the Dance Club was to develop more interest in social dancing and to provide an opportunity for students to learn the various dance steps properly.

Any boy or girl interested in dancing was eligible to be a member. The club was limited to an equal number of girls and boys so as to give every one a partner.

A lesson was given each club period in order to enable the students to learn the various dance steps. After each lesson some time was spent in practicing the newly acquired dance step. The remainder of the period the members enjoyed a period of regular social dancing. Various dance programs were used to mix the couples around in order to have new partners.

The Dance Club celebrated the beginning of each school vacation by holding a party.

CHEERLEADERS

This group of peppy cheerleaders, who even worked during their lunch hour, did a swell job of keeping the students of J. H. S. in a lively and peppy mood. Win or lose, they were right there cheering to the very end. With such a pep squad behind them, our teams were sure to win their share of the games. Among other services they originated some very clever new cheers.

Since the cheerleaders have been cheering for us all year, let's turn the tables and give a cheer for them and their sponsor, Miss Richards. They deserve it!

Alpha Tri-Hi-Y was a YMCA club for girls. The purpose of this club was to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character.

Some of the service activities of the club were filling Thanksgiving baskets, providing toys for underprivileged children at Christmas, and taking part in various tag sales.

Highlights of the year were the Mother-Daughter Banquet, Alumnae Banquet, and Spring Formal.

The regular meetings of Alpha Tri-Hi-Y were held on the second and fourth Tuesdays at the "Y". The programs included a supper and usually a speaker. Occasionally the programs contained a discussion by members of the club or were taken over by a service activity.

The Amateur Radio Club was intended to further the interest of boys in becoming amateur radio operators. The programs stressed the learning of code, films on receiving and sending code radio messages, as well as outside speakers who were amateur operators.

One of the main activities was to prepare members for the amateur radio operators' examination. This, however, did not exclude members who were not interested in qualifying for the license.

Radio operation procedure is so involved all the phases could not be taken up during the regular club periods. To combat this handicap some of the members met several times a week and practiced operation and study theory on their own. A more advanced member of the group was usually in charge of these meetings.

G. A. A. is the sports club for girls; the letters stand for Girls Athletic Association. The girls met during the club period every second and fourth Thursday and after school every Monday and Wednesday. They participated in many sports, including softball, soccer, bowling, basketball, volley-ball, badminton, stunts and tumbling, and swimming in the MacMurray Pool. They have competed in basketball shooting and bowling with teams of other schools by means of telegraphing their scores; this is called a Telegraph Tournament.

Some of the special activities this year were the trip to St. Louis to see Sonja Henie, swimming parties, hikes, hayrides, Play Day at the School for the Deaf, and numerous parties.

The thirty-two members of the Ushers Club deserve a vote of thanks from the entire student body. Whenever an occasion arose which called for ushering, they were right there in their crimson and white uniforms, smilingly escorting patrons to their seats. They ushered at all school activities, such as musical productions, plays, special assemblies, home basketball games, and occasionally for outside activities which were held in the J. H. S. auditorium.

At the beginning of the year students who desired to become ushers handed their names to the old club members. Following this, the members of the club voted on the new names, and, if these were found to be satisfactory, they became ushers. This process was practiced because it was very necessary for all ushers to be capable and dependable people.

An annual picnic was held by this club in the spring.

Anyone who has taken at least one commercial subject was eligible to be a member of the Commercial Club.

The purpose of this club was to encourage high standards of efficiency and achievement in the business world; to instill worthy business ethics and ideals; and to increase interest in modern progressive business systems, materials, and equipment.

Talks and demonstrations by prominent businessmen and women filled most of the club programs. Members of the club participated in business plays, debates, and discussions. Each program usually contained several musical numbers or other entertainment.

The highlight of the year for Commercial Club members was the Alumni Banquet. This banquet, held at the Dunlap Hotel, not only gave present students an evening to remember but also acted as a reunion for former students.

fers to marry either Lord Mountarat or Lord Tolloller, declaring that Strephon is unfaithful. The finale, ending happily for everyone, is typical Gilbert and Sullivan fashion.

Iolanthe and the Lord Chancellor are reunited, as well as Strephon and Phyllis, after the situation is explained. The Lords marry the fairies after the law is changed by the Lord Chancellor, and everyone "flies away to Fairyland."

"Away to Fairyland" was a fitting theme for this enchanting opera which was presented by the choral clubs of J.H.S. The splendid performance was one of our most outstanding remembrances of the year. Congratulations to all those who helped to make it such a success.

The opera was under the capable direction of Miss Lena Mae Hopper and Miss Betty Jane Coultas. The co-chairmen were Marilyn Shaffner and Ruth Hunt.

Iolanthe, a fairy, has been exiled because of her previous marriage to a mortal, but the Queen grants pardon when the fairies plead for her. Strephon, Iolanthe's son, is in love with Phyllis, a ward in Chancery; she loves him in return but knows nothing of his mixed origin. The Lord Chancellor refuses to let Strephon marry Phyllis. Iolanthe, while talking tenderly to her son, is seen by Phyllis, who thinks he is talking to a young girl of seventeen. Because of this misunderstanding, Phyllis of-

MINSTREL

The 1947 J.H.S. Minstrel opened with a bang, with Mr. Willard Cody again acting as our very splendid interlocutor.

The theme this year was "School Daze," with Miss Fergene Goddin as the capable directress.

The short pants, big bow ties, and bright school dresses of the characters, as well as their lusty singing, brought our School Daze chorus into the limelight. Mr. Welch, our band-leader, did a very good job of directing the chorus as well as playing in the band during specialties.

Esther Pond was our featured soloist of the evening, singing "That's My Desire" and "Missouri Waltz" beautifully; she was accompanied by the band.

Our fun-loving endmen were: Zenia (Tom Mills), Aloysius (John Ryan), Lushwell (Jim Birr), Mr. Lopear (Jack Kurtz), Shiftless Jones (Ed Horton), and Mushmouth (Keith Baumann). They entertained us in their best traditional manner with such songs as: "Some of These Days," "On Revival Day," "Ma Blushin' Rosie," and others.

Some of the highlights of the evening were: "All I Owe Iowa," a duet; the violin solo, "Czardas;" and Agile Ferdinand in "Glow Worm," but these were only a few. Last but certainly not least, were the Rockets' tapping to "Ida."

We wish to offer congratulations to all those who helped to make it a success.

VESPERS

Perhaps the most impressive program that the J.H.S. choral clubs presented was the annual Christmas Vespers. The stage was decorated as a church which featured a huge stained-glass window of the Mother and Child with angelic cherubs on either side. The solemnity of the church prevailed as the vested choir carrying tapers entered singing "Adeste Fideles." Some of the outstanding numbers of this successful program were: "Fear Ye Not, O Israel," sung by George Fox; "Gesu Bambino," sung by Harold Toussaint with the choir; and "O Divine Redeemer," sung by a semi-chorus with Florence Ritchie as soloist.

Many other numbers as well as semi-chorus groups contributed to this beautiful Christmas service.

Rheba and Donald added a touch of hilarity to the entire scheme. Alice and Tony, the only two sane ones, concentrated their efforts in trying to culminate better family relationships. Tony's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby, were the wealthy influence in the play. Kolenkhov invaded the stage with his boisterous Russian dialect. Gay Wellington, who appeared in a constant stupor, captured many laughs from the audience. Olga Katrina proved a royal aspect with her Russian heritage. The G-men turned the whole tide of affairs in the Vanderhoff household.

JUNIOR PLAYS

"Hullabaloo" Cast

"New School for Wives" Cast

This year the Juniors presented three clever one-act plays. This novel idea went over well with the audience.

"Hullabaloo," which consisted of an all-girl cast, was a play centered around an English household and the romance of the daughter. The sewing maid lent a note of the supernatural, as her great great grandmother was said to be a witch.

"The Lost Silk Hat" is set in a fashionable London street. A man left his hat in the home of his lady friend with whom he had quarreled. Feeling a social error to be in the streets of London without his hat and not wanting to go into the house for it, he tried to get four different men to get it for him. This situation led to complications as the men had reasons for not getting him the hat.

The play was very well performed by an all-boy cast.

"New School of Wives," performed by a mixed cast, revolved around the Dunlap household. Their daughter and her three friends had just returned from college where each had chosen her particular "Type," with the exception of the Dunlap's daughter. This predicament added to the hilarity of the well acted play.

Friday, April 30, 1948, marked the memorable Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom given by the Juniors for the Seniors. The theme, "Showboat," was cleverly carried out in blue and silver. At the banquet held at the Dunlap Hotel the invocation was given by Mary Helen Potter. Francis Bunch, as "Cap'n Andy," proved to be a very able toastmaster. The response to the Junior welcome was given by Senior class president, Robert Patterson. Speeches cleverly carrying out the theme were given by Dick Gruny, Margie Phillips, Alice Pasel and Miss Goddin. Vocal solos of music taken from the popular opera "Showboat" were presented by George Fox, Dolores Waggner and Wanda Harrell accompanied by Mary Ann DuBois.

The Prom followed the banquet at 9:00 in McClelland Hall. Until 12:00 the music of Lou Hahn's orchestra was enjoyed, closing one of the performances long to be cherished in the memory of all who attended.

The 1948 production of the May Festival presented by the choral clubs of J.H.S. was under the capable direction of Miss Lena Mae Hopper with Noel Rousy and Mrs. Horton as her accompanists. The co-chairmen of this production were Mary Jane Ore and Betty Shewmaker. This lovely spring festival was given as a matinee to the students in addition to the two night performances on May 6 and 7.

In the traditional manner the first part of the program was presented by the first, second, and fourth hour choirs dressed in southern fashion while they performed a boy-girl dance and song number. Dick Gruny acted as master of ceremonies.

The second part of the program was presented by the Senior Choir with Jack Kurtz as master of ceremonies. Among the fine performers were: Harold Toussaint, Marilyn Kahl, and Florence Ritchie.

The highlight of the delightful production came when our beautiful Queen of May, Georgeanne Lynn, was crowned by last year's sovereign, Doris Souza.

SETTING

Miss Leonhard's room (door closed!) 4:05 P. M. on May 24th. Everyone on "J" staff is huddled around a copy of the new 1948 "J". Noise, confusion, and happy sighs fill the air.

MARILYN: Wow! It's really super! Like it, Georgeanne?

GEORGEANNE: Yes! Everybody has certainly done a splendid job. Didn't the two Bettys think up some snazzy captions for our seniors?

SHEWMAKER and BIRDSSELL: That part of it was lots of fun. Can't you just see everyone looking back over them in ten years and getting all dreamy reminiscing about the "good ole days"? But say—don't Ruth's division pages look neat in that red ink? That will be a real surprise for everybody.

RUTH: Yes—and Marilyn and Georgeanne's page arrangements are really extra-special. How late were you kids up figuring those out?

MARILYN: That would be telling! Anyway, Evelyn and Lois were up with us, counting all that money and tearing their hair over the subscriptions. How about it?

EVELYN: Lois and I have decided that we'll learn to work an adding machine. Did you know that Garland and Keith brought in more advertising money than has ever been given before?

GARLAND and KEITH: (Modestly) Aw shucks! It was nuthin'! And anyway, with the two best photographers in town, Jeannie and Glenn, we just had to finance all their swell pictures. Are you sure Mr. May didn't take the pictures, you two?

GLENN: No sir! We'll be glad to take the credit for that job! Mr. May was really wonderful to help us, though. He's tops!

JEANNE: (pointing an accusing finger) Virginia Lane, did you snitch my best joke book? Where did you get that grand humor section? I thought I'd split over that joke about . . .

VIRGINIA: Oh, pooh! I didn't have to use any old joke book; it just comes natural! What I want to know is how Mary Jane and Debbie kept all their dates straight (on the calendar page, of course!)

MARY JANE and DEBBIE: Easy! We have indelible minds! Say, Ann and Sterling, is it true that you can identify any under classman in the school, after arranging all those class pages?

ANN and STERLING: Yes sir! Just call us Sherlock Holmeses—or whoever it is that traces lost persons! Liz Caldwell—your write-ups of the music productions will certainly bring back fond memories. Will you ever forget the work we did on those?

LIZ: I still think Vespers are my favorite. Alberta, your "club" pages are super. And, Hal, you can just about qualify for sports writer on a newspaper by now, can't you?

HAL: Oh yeah! The gals I take my hat off to are Theresa and Lavada. Did you actually type all this whole "J" and not get cross-eyed or something?

THERESA and LAVADA: Well, after all, you see, speed counts. And we assure you that our eyes are O.K. Just look for yourself. Betty, will you ever forget that breathless dash to the bus station for the very last dead-line?

BETTY: It was all so much fun. Wasn't it, Nancy? And oh, that "J" skit! International, wasn't it? How did you ever think of it?

NANCY: Oh, all you need is an imagination, and everything that goes with it.

GEORGEANNE and MARILYN: Well, not to be bragging, but we're certainly proud of this, our "J". Thanks, everybody—especially you, Miss Leonhard, for working so hard to make it perfect.

The Time—1947-48

ACT I

With an enlightening speech Mr. Agger drew back the curtain for the coming year. Every face in the audience seemed filled with anticipation. Students then attended short previews of their classes. School finally got underway with the stage set for a successful school year. The actors were ready, and the play began . . .

In a special assembly J. Brown, B. Crabbe, G. Lynn, K. Stevens, S. Fry, and "Hot Dog" were chosen as cheerleaders. Although we lost our first game, the boys showed their true spirit in the game with Winchester.

Our first school dance was a great success, even though Quincy won. Teachers Institute made a timely appearance, and gave us our first breather. (The poor faculty had to keep the show going, though.) Miss Joan Bishop, a former Quiz Kid, entertained us informally by singing and playing her own accompaniment. On October 3 Beardstown again claimed the "Little Brown Jug", but the J. H. S. Crimsoners jubilantly gained possession a month later. A formal presentation was made in a special assembly.

Mr. R. Melville gave an interesting demonstration on glass blowing. He made a glass boat which he presented to the school. Mr. C. E. Jones, who has almost become an institution at J. H. S., treated us with a memorable assembly on gyroscopes. That evening blue-jeaned boys and girls joined hands around the bonfire to form our annual snake dance. Homecoming was a splendid affair with Beverly Stoddard reigning as our queen. She was crowned at a dance held in her honor. The only disappointing factor was our defeat by Springfield's Feitshans. Lavinia Scott, a J. H. S. alumna and editor of the "J" and now a missionary-teacher in South Africa, gave a very informational talk on South African schools.

Miss Hopper and her Glee Clubs deserve a grand applause for their colorful production of "Iolanthe" by Gilbert and Sullivan. Simeon Oliver, better known as "Nutchuck," presented us with an assembly on Alaska. Mr. Oliver is an accomplished pianist and played several numbers of his own arrangement. To the joy of everyone the Minstrel was finally ready for opening night. Those Endmen! They must live in a world of their own—what world?

The Vespers added to the Christmas spirit with one of the most impressive programs of the year. The annual Christmas Dance, quite a festive one, was held at the new "Y". Christmas vacation was wonderful, but the shadow of coming semester exams cast a blight over all of the gaiety. The exams came and went, and most of us survived. Mr. Agger then lowered the curtain for a short intermission.

ACT II

The house lights dimmed, and the curtain rose on the final act "Brief Encounter." Our first main event was the Senior Play, "You Can't Take It With You." Miss Coultas, Miss Leonhard, and the cast certainly came through with a great success. The J. H. S.rimsons brought home a first-place trophy from the regional tournament, presented to Mr. Agger and the school by Farrell Mitchell on behalf of the team. Lady Luck deserted us, though, on Wednesday, March 10, when we lost the sectional to Beardswn.

Mr. John Sloan presented us with a "frosty" demonstration on the wonders of "Liquid Air"—banana hammers and everything. March 19 the halls of J. H. S. underwent a surprising transformation. Its inhabitants brought to life many of our comic strip characters. The explanation—you guessed it—Sadie Hawkins' day! The traveling Glee Club from Illinois State Normal University paused here to give us a sample of their vocal accomplishments. Easter vacation, March 26-29, provided us with a pleasant pause that refreshes."

James Dutton, artist-teacher of the marimba, visited us on April 6 and gave us several renditions on his instrument. The Senior Play was presented in a little different manner this year. We had a triple treat. Instead of just one play there were three—"New School For Wives", "Hullabaloo", and "The Lost Silk Hat". Mr. Musselman, who is quite an authority on birds, confirmed the coming of spring with his lecture and pictures of birds. The Junior-Senior Prom was one of the highlights of the year. Congratulations to the Juniors on a job well done! Georgeanne Lynn reigned as queen of the May at our annual May Festival.

On Senior Skip Day, the day when Seniors have a legitimate excuse for being absent, the Seniors packed up their old kit bags, and set out for Pere Marquette State Park. A more solemn expression prevailed at Baccalaureate as the Seniors realized their high school days were drawing to a close.

The Seniors had their last get-together before commencement at the Senior Love Feast. "May I borrow your fountain pen?" was a much used question on the 25th of May. (The "J's" came out) We donned jeans and plaid shirts again for a wonderful day at our all-school picnic. Then came commencement. One by one the Seniors, in caps and gowns, received their diplomas. They walked off the stage with heads high, a new light in their eyes, to take their places in adult society.

FOOTBALL

Patterson, Wimberly, Kraushaar

The Jacksonville High School Crimsons did not make their best record in the 1947 season, but they did show determination and used the material they had to advantage. The squad was strong in the backfield but could not click on the defensive. As a result, they lost several games. At times, even though defeated, they played an excellent game, notable among which was the one against Quincy.

Coach Kraushaar had two capable assistants in Mr. Wimberly and Mr. Patterson, the latter coaching the B squad.

TRACK

Gordon Smith, Hal Olson, Lloyd West

Jacksonville High School placed a good track team in action in the 1948 season. With several lettermen back from previous years, the squad made a good showing in all scheduled meets. Coaches Hal Wimberly and Farrell Patterson turned in an excellent exhibition as track coaches.

BASEBALL

Farrell Mitchell

Frank Breakville

Stanford Spotts

The Crimson baseball squad suffered the loss of several veteran players for the 1948 season. Several positions were filled by players from Murrayville, and the support of these players was invaluable. Coach Kraushaar was in charge of the baseball team.
